“Diversifying Diversity: Rethinking how we create a truly inclusive workplace”

The modern workplace is more diverse than it's ever been. But how do we ensure that these efforts translate into better inclusivity? That everyone is not just seen and counted, but heard and understood? To get there, we must learn to think outside the box by creating programs and initiatives that inform, inspire, and empower. At SHPE, we're partnering with organizations across the industry gamut to reimagine how we engage and encourage traditionally underserved populations. All with the goal of creating a truly 21st century workforce — one that not only reflects today's world, but helps shape the one to come.
